A large, stylized red letter 'S' is centered on a white background. The letter has a thick, slightly irregular stroke, giving it a hand-drawn or 3D-printed appearance. It features a subtle drop shadow to its right and slightly below, suggesting it is floating or standing on the surface. The overall image is simple and minimalist.

- Are issued by corporations or by governments (City, State and Federal)

- Bonds can be purchased by anyone and everyone: Americans, foreigners, other countries' governments, corporations and businesses (foreign and domestic), U.S. government (city, state and federal), The Federal Reserve Bank

- When a newly issued bond is purchased, the price paid for the bond is a "loan" given to the issuer of the bond.

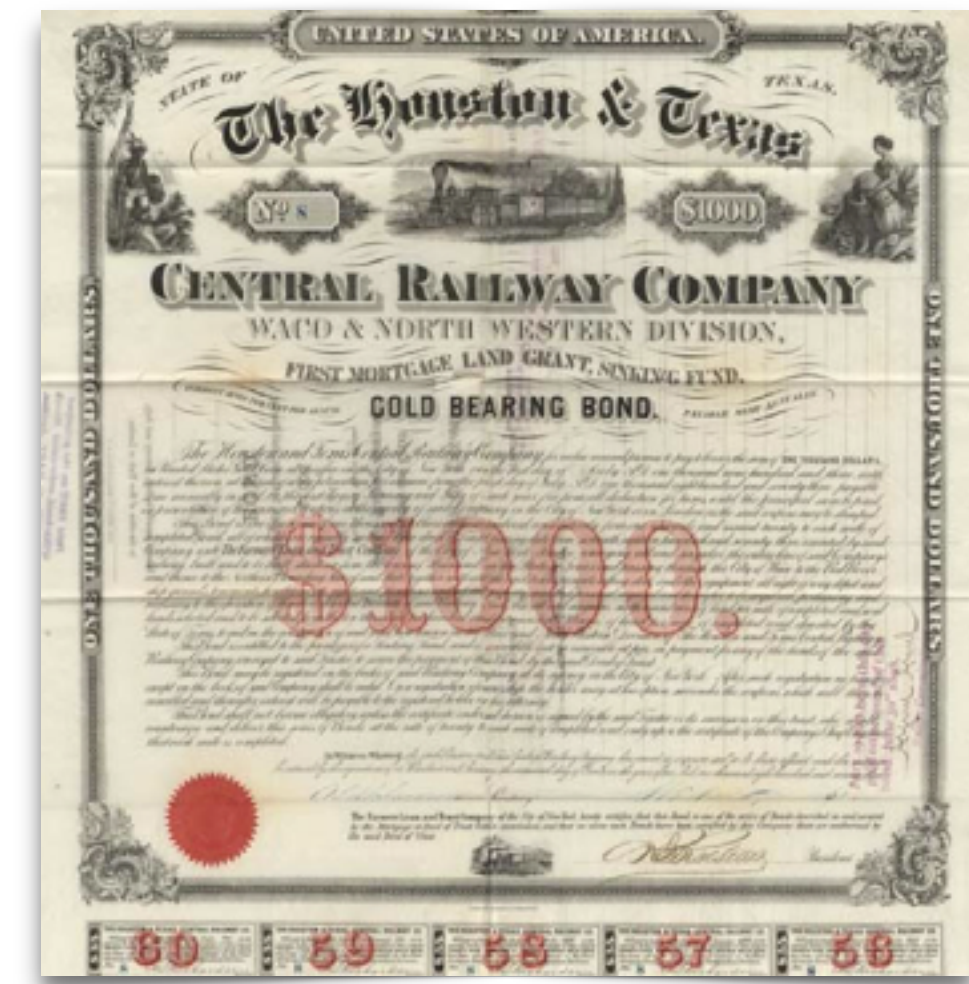

- Like any other loan, the bond has a maturity date (the date when the loan is to be paid back) and an interest rate

- Once a bond is purchased, it can be re-sold by whoever owns it: Americans, foreigners, other countries' governments, corporations and businesses (foreign and domestic), governments (city, state and federal), The Federal Reserve Bank, etc.

Note here the use of the word “issued”: it means when the bond is created
